The Higher Education Loan Program includes a loan scheme called FEE-HELP for domestic fee paying students. Eligible students can take out a FEE-HELP loan to assist with their tuition fees.

Eligible students may choose to defer some, or all, of their tuition fees to FEE-HELP.

FEE-HELP is available to commencing students who are either Australian Citizens or Australian Permanent Residents with a humanitarian visa, and some continuing students.

To find out more about FEE-HELP please consult the FEE-HELP section of our website at: <http://www.australia.cmu.edu/study/schedule-of-fees/australian-fee-help>.

In addition, you may be able to meet the costs of the program from your pre-tax salary. Maxxia is the appointed service provider to administer the South Australian Government Salary Sacrifice Arrangements. It has advised that:

Salary package your self-education expenses – and save

If you're a Government of South Australia employee, you may be eligible to salary package (or salary 'sacrifice') your self-education expenses. This means you could use your pre-tax dollars to pay for these expenses and potentially save on tax – and you don't have to wait until tax time to claim these expenses.

You could claim:

- The cost to you of a prescribed course of education including any textbooks or equipment relevant to the course of study. The invoice CMU-A provides to students for fees and materials (e.g. case studies) can be used as supporting document for this cost.
- return travel costs incurred between home and the place of education

- return travel costs incurred between work and the place of education
- the cost of meals and accommodation when participating in self education activities, where you are required to be temporarily away from home for one or more nights.

It is recommended that you contact Maxxia on 1300 123 123 to enquire about salary packaging your self-education expenses.

Verification Requirement for all Enrolling Students

We are committed to ensuring the integrity of our admissions process and the reputation of our educational programs. We also want to protect and enhance the value of the degrees that we confer. The purpose of the background check is to protect all stakeholders of our programs (students, faculty, staff and alumni) from those who would falsify their backgrounds to gain an unfair advantage in the admissions process. We have made the decision to implement an independent verification process of all application materials for any master's student enrolling in the Heinz College. We believe that this verification will support our efforts to ensure integrity throughout the program. This is a straight forward process supplied by an external provider. Upon admission, you will receive more details.

Carnegie Mellon's faculty and administration join me in congratulating you on your admission and we look forward to welcoming you to our campus in Adelaide. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact our Admissions Office by email at admissions@australia.cmu.edu

Yours sincerely,
